DUBLIN, Jan. 10.—Because it suggests "a policy of egotism and selfishness," the name Sinn Fein has been dropped by the new Irish party. The new name is "Irish Republican Party." The first meeting of the Irish constituent assembly will be held soon.

BARES ENEMY PLOT TO INVADE CANADA

German plans for the invasion of Canada by men in the Imperial German army, were told the Senate committee probing German propaganda, by A. Bruce Bielaski, head of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice.

"The men Germany depended upon to invade Canada, before we entered the war, belonged to the 'Kriegsblend,'" said Bielaski. "Men who had seen military service in Germany were eligible for membership. Some of the organizations were actually drilling and were supplied with rifles. Nothing of a serious character ever developed, although the society was harmful in its influence."

Employers Organizing to Provide Work for 15,000 Returning D. C. Soldiers

Washington's 15,000 soldiers, sailors and marines in most instances will have their old positions waiting for them when they return from the war, if the campaign embarked upon by the citizens of the National Capital is successful.

A committee, appointed by the District Commissioners, of which John Joy Edson is chairman, feels that the employer should take the soldier back to his former position or give him one its equivalent.

"We hope," said Mr. Edson, "the employers will take back their former employees who entered the military service and who are now being demobilized."

"There is no debt we can pay the District soldiers who were in this war, whether they fought in France or did not reach France. They were willing to give up their lives for us and our country. The men selected for military service should by all means be given back their old jobs which they were so proud to do."

The committee has received many pledges from employers that when their employees return from France or other foreign lands they will be given their old jobs. The United States Employment Service, of the Department of Labor, has established a community bureau where returning District military men are being cared for and given employment.

Since December 5 this bureau has obtained employment for nearly 1,000 Washington soldiers, sailors, and marines who have been mustered out of service and who found their jobs filled.

With the co-operation of the employers with the District officials in replacing the soldiers to their old positions, the Department of Labor realizes it will be confronted with an overflow of men who will have lost their jobs. It was stated this morning there is a demand for skilled and unskilled labor, but that clerks, bookkeepers, and the like are not in demand in the District.

Transportation Bill Passed. Congress has passed a bill providing for transportation of all war workers of the Government departments to their homes when losing their places here. However, the bookkeepers, shipping clerks and others in private employment to be replaced by the soldiers are not provided for. Unless they have funds to take them to their homes, where they can get employment, these men will probably be a burden on the District. Just what is to be done for these men is what the committee and the Department of Labor are figuring on.

It is believed, however, that a few months business will adjust itself so that there will be employment for all, former soldiers and citizens.

AFTER SICKNESS TAKE HYPO-COD, SAY FOLKS WHO HAD INFLUENZA

Quickly Strengthens You. Pulls You Out of Bed and Back to Work Days and Weeks Sooner. Wards Off Dangerous Coughs and Complications. Quickly Revives and Builds You Up.

Stops Cough, Chest Soreness and That Achy Weak Feeling. Helps Appetite and Digestion.

REPRESENTATIVE HERE AT PEOPLE'S DRUG STORES

People Just Over Wasting Sickness Should Read Experiences of Others Printed Below.

TELL HOW THEY FELT AND WHAT THEY DID

A careful canvass of numerous influenza and pneumonia cases conducted in other cities indicates that in nearly every case the patient suffers afterwards with weak, sore lungs aggravated by a deep-seated cough and cold that will not disappear under ordinary treatment.

Furthermore, an alarming number in this weakened condition are contracting Lung trouble, Tubercular symptoms and in spite of the utmost care this is an ever-present danger.

They complain, as a rule, also with weak back, pains and aches, muscles and limbs and lack of vitality to a marked degree. Their appetites return but slowly and their stomachs remain weak—the "flu" seemingly sapping their strength almost to the point of utter physical exhaustion and leaving the recuperative powers in a depleted state, and weeks and even months drag by with the slowest kind of improvement.

Experiences of Others. On this page today are the personal statements of numerous people who suffered from the recent epidemic and their experience is a good guide for folks here. Indeed very little is actually known of the cause or cure of this scourge to humanity and it is only by the accumulation of such data that anyone knows what to do. Professional circles admit it is baffling, but the outstanding viewpoint is that the patient should be promptly built up in order that nature may ward off the dangerous pneumonia and lung troubles which are apt to follow.

It is also the opinion of all that anyone weak, nervous, thin, rundown and debilitated should take a good tonic as a preventive—thereby keeping the system in as perfect a state as possible at all times. Healthy robust people do not get sick is certainly true.

The People's Drug Store, noting the phenomenal success of Hypo-Cod (made by the nationally known Earle Chemical Co.) in other cities where the epidemic was even worse than here, recently made arrangements with this concern to introduce Hypo-Cod through their stores and the words of many users in Washington already prove that it fits the case best of anything yet tried by users who after just a few days say their improvement is rapid and complete.

It is the opinion of thousands of users seem to indicate universal and prompt results when Hypo-Cod is used. It contains extracts from fresh cod livers freed of the nauseating, fishy taste, Malt, Iron, Wild Cherry, Bitter, and the compound of hypophosphites of lime, potassium, manganese, strychnine, quinine and sodium. This naturally is a splendid strengthening, blood-purifying, and remedy for bronchial, catarrhal or pulmonary troubles. Cod Liver Oil in this palatable form is a most delicate stomachic. Being made by the Earle Chemical Co. of Wheeling, W. Va., one may be sure the various elements are of the best and recommended by the best of medicine men as a tonic and remedy for coughs and colds. This is fully proved by the People's Drug Store. No one should fail to give it a trial unless under strict orders from his doctor. In fact, if even then if the above formula is submitted to the family physician as it appears on the bottle he will surely recommend it. Read the statements on this page selected from hundreds of a similar nature. Two from last night's store for a bottle. Mail orders shipped.

COLD ON LUNGS FOLLOWING "FLU"

Coughed, Spit Up Mucous. Felt Weak and Rundown. Took Hypo-Cod. Feels Fine.

ALMOST LIKE MAGIC

"I had a bad cold on the lungs following the 'flu' and, strange to say, it bothered me more in the day time than it did at night. I would cough up great chunks of mucous continually and it was hawking and spitting about all the time due to this aggravated catarrhal condition. Of course one with a cough such as I had could not feel right. I was rundown and weak. A friend recommended the right remedy, however, for he said, 'Get Hypo-Cod' and the first bottle relieved that cough. I'm feeling a great deal better in fact. I feel better in every way. In former years it seemed as though just as soon as cold weather started I would be coughing, but this year, I feel clear through the winter season free from this yearly trouble. They told me it was bronchial catarrh. Hypo-Cod has my O. K.," declared J. M. Mitchell, 804 Lee St., Richmond, Va.

That Smoker's Cough. Many a man excuses his cough on the ground that it is due to excessive smoking. To such men we suggest two or three bottles of Hypo-Cod. It is a great winter relief. By taking it you rid the system of this menace and set a good system going to ward off the colds and coughs of winters and enrich the blood and improve the appetite. It is a splendid tonic. It contains the elements printed on bottle and described fully in one of the above stories. Read what other smokers have to say. The People's Drug Store here in Washington for a bottle. Ask the clerk what it is. It costs only $1.00 at the People's Drug Store, Washington, D. C.
